PROTECT YOURSELF AND THOSE AROUND YOU

Domestic travel – Tasmania

Current as of 12 January 2021, at 10:09 AEST

Entry to Tasmania and quarantine requirements depend on where you've been in the 14 days before you travelled to Tasmania. Areas are declared as either low-, medium- or high-risk based on the number of COVID-19 cases or level of community transmission in those areas — subject to public health advice. See below for details. If you don't have suitable premises to quarantine, contact the Public Health Hotline on 1800 671 738 for accommodation to be arranged. A quarantine fee will not apply in this case.

If you're in quarantine and you're not experiencing COVID-19 symptoms, you can leave Tasmania.

If you experience COVID-19 symptoms, please contact the Tasmanian Public Health Hotline on 1800 671 738 and advise that you're in quarantine.

To check current risk areas and requirements if you have been there or have come from there please check the coronavirus.tas.gov.au/travelalert and follow the required instructions.

Do you have any cold or flu-like symptoms?

This includes fever, runny nose, cough, sore/itchy throat or shortness of breath.

Call your GP or the Public Health Hotline 1800 671 738 to request a COVID-19 test

You must have a referral to be tested.

If there is no testing clinic in your local area, you can travel outside your municipality to have a test.

After being tested, you must self-isolate at home until you receive your results.
