INFORMATION FOR VOTERS AT LOCAL GOVERNMENT ELECTIONS

Am I eligible to vote in Tasmanian local government elections?

You are eligible to vote if you are:

- over the age of 18 years;
- not serving a term of imprisonment;
- not subject to an initial order or continuing care order under the Mental Health Act 1996 or an order under the Guardianship and Administration Act 1995.

Do I have to enrol?

If you are on the House of Assembly electoral roll in respect of an address within the municipal area in which you wish to cast your vote at a Council election, you are automatically enrolled.

If you are not on the House of Assembly electoral roll in respect of an address which is within the municipal area in which you wish to cast your vote at a Council election, you must fill out a Local Government Electoral Enrolment form in order to be eligible to vote.

The eligibility criteria listed above will apply.

A person who is resident in one municipal area and is also an owner or occupier of land in one or more other municipal areas, is entitled to enrol and vote in an election in respect of those municipal areas.

Do I have to vote?

Voting at local government elections is not compulsory for electors on the General Manager's roll. (However following changes to the Local Government Act 1993, voting is now compulsory for electors on the State roll.)

What happens when I send in my enrolment form?

Provided you have met the eligibility requirements, your name will be placed on the electoral roll for the relevant municipal area.

At the appropriate time, a postal vote ballot paper will be sent to you.

Will all information appear on the electoral roll?

No. Only your name and entitlement address will appear on the electoral roll.

Electoral rolls are made available for public inspection and may be provided to –

- the Tasmanian Electoral Commission and contractors for the purpose of conducting council elections; and
- candidates in accordance with the Local Government Act 1993.

Where can I get more information?

You can get more information from your local Council, or the Tasmanian Electoral Commission.
